

English and ICT Competences for the Unemployed Project

The project “ENGLISH AND ICT COMPETENCES FOR THE UNEMPLOYED” targets people in disadvantaged positions in the society, the unemployed, regardless their age, sex or previous work experience. The partners are willing to share their experience, knowledge and methodologies in adult training and bring a positive contribution to find a solution to the training needs of the target groups, at least at local level, and aim to bring about a more positive attitude towards other countries and to improve inter cultural dialogue. The intended instruction will deal with business-related topics, providing Content Based Instructions associated with the language used in work situations, and is to include necessary language tools that will enable the participants to be sufficiently fluent in every circumstance.

Moreover, activities will be developed with the use of blended learning methodologies, so as to provide, along with the English language instructions, a complete course on PC usage to offer the participants a complete set of office related skills and also to improve their ability to work in a team. The European cooperation offer the opportunity to share success stories and failures from different partners countries, to offer therefore and opportunity of quality planning process in reaching the goals and objectives planned in this project. All the partners of this project have extensive experience in EU cooperation, content development in language teaching, use of innovation in adults' training, adaptation to new pedagogies in teaching and training (blended-learning) ICT tool in education.

The Partnership

Organizations involved in our partnership will create a network of schools, associations and institutions and our common motivation for taking part in European cooperation activities is based on transfer of knowledge, methods and good practice for adults education on challenge their English preparation and to reinforce their use of the PC as a means of communication and thus facilitate intercultural dialogue and development of innovative training offers for unemployed, teachers, trainers and other staff in adult education.
